About Indira Gandhi National Centre for the Arts (IGNCA)-

- The IGNCA was built in the late 1980s after an international jury comprising British architect James Sterling and India's B V Doshi picked American architect Ralph Lerner's design.
- It was inaugurated in November 1985 by then Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi.

Aims and Objectives-

- To serve as a major resource centre for the arts, especially written, oral and visual source materials.
- To undertake research and publication programmes of reference works, glossaries, dictionaries and encyclopaedia concerning the arts and the humanities.
- To establish a tribal and folk arts division with a core collection for conducting systematic scientific studies and for live presentations.
- To provide a forum for a creative and critical dialogue through performances, exhibitions, multi-media projections, conferences, seminars and workshops between and amongst the diverse arts, traditional and contemporary.
- To foster dialogue between arts and current ideas in philosophy, science and technology, with a view toward bridging the gap in intellectual understanding between modern sciences and arts and culture.

- To evolve models of research programmes and arts administration more pertinent to the Indian ethos.
- To elucidate the formative and dynamic factors in the complex web of interactions between diverse social strata, communities and regions.
- To promote a network with national and international institutions,
- To conduct related research in the arts, humanities and culture.
