In news– The United Nations (UN) Women and the UN Department of Economic and Social Affairs (UN DESA) have released the Gender Snapshot 2022 report recently.

Key highlights of the report-

Following are key findings of the report:

- The report is titled 'Progress on the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG): The Gender Snapshot 2022'.
- It highlighted that SDG 5, or achieving gender equality, will not be met by 2030 at the current pace of progress.
- If current trends continue, more women and girls will live in extreme poverty by 2030 in sub-Saharan Africa than today.
- Women's rights in marriage and family include denying women their right to pass on their nationality to their children and to inherit.

- In 2021, about 38 per cent of female-headed households in war-affected areas experienced moderate or severe food insecurity, compared to 20 per cent of male-headed households.
- Globally, women lost an estimated USD 800 billion in income in 2020 due to the pandemic. Despite a rebound, their participation in labour markets is projected to be lower in 2022 than it was pre-pandemic (50.8 per cent, compared to 51.8 per cent in 2019).
- More women and girls are now forcibly displaced than ever before: some 44 million women and girls by the end of 2021.
- Today, over 1.2 billion women and girls of reproductive age (15-49) live in countries and areas with some restrictions on access to safe abortion.
