

World Economic Forum's Davos Agenda '22

January 19, 2022

In news- The annual meeting of the World Economic Forum(WEF) is being held in Davos from 17 to 21 January 2022.

What is Davos Agenda '22 of WEF?

- The Davos Agenda 2022 is the starting point for the dialogue needed for global cooperation in 2022.
- It offers the first global platform of 2022 for world leaders to come together to share their visions for the year ahead.
- The thematic agenda on “State of the World” saw heads of state and government, CEOs and other leaders speak on critical global challenges.
- The event will also mark the launch of several Forum initiatives including
 - efforts to accelerate the race to net-zero emissions.
 - ensure the economic opportunity of nature-positive solutions.
 - create cyber resilience.
 - strengthen global value chains.
 - build economies in fragile markets through humanitarian investing.
 - bridge the vaccine manufacturing gap and
 - use data solutions to prepare for the next pandemic.
- Several leaders including the Indian Prime Minister participated in the event virtually.
